Thought for the Week – from Caroline

Bill Gates, the Microsoft billionaire, gave these 11 tips for success to his teenage audience. As far as I know they are not scriptural and I don't know whether Bill Gates is a Christian or not, but I am sure anybody who has lived with teenagers can relate to it, and it makes sense. It's a bit of fun and God loves us to have fun.

Rule 1: Life is not fair-get used to it!

Rule 2: The world will expect you to accomplish something BEFORE you feel good about yourself.

Rule 3: You will NOT make £30,000 a year right out of high school.

Rule 4: If you think your teacher is tough, wait till you get a boss.

Rule 5: Flipping burgers is not beneath your dignity. Your grandparents had a different word for burger-flipping: opportunity.

Rule 6: If you mess up, it's not your parents' fault, so don't whine about your mistakes—learn from them.

Rule 7: Before you were born, your parents weren't as boring as they are now. They got that way from paying your bills and listening to you talk about how cool you are.

Rule 8: Your school may have done away with winners and losers, but life HAS NOT.

Rule 9: Life is not divided into terms. You don't get summers off and very few employers are interested in helping you “find yourself.” Do that in your own time.

Rule 10: TV is not real life. In real life, people have to leave the coffee shop and go to jobs.

Rule 11: Be nice to nerds. Chances are you'll end up working for one!

But here is a thought for you. Psalm 55:22 – “Cast your cares on the Lord.”

I heard a preacher say this: “Pain is inevitable, misery is optional.”
