Thought for the Week – from Caroline

"Search me, O God, and know my heart; Try me and know my anxious thoughts; And see if there be any hurtful way in me, And lead me in the everlasting way" (Psalm 139:23-24).

Do you ever have a thought or a feeling which you know is just plain horrible and definitely wrong? – Because I know I do and the searchlight seems to be brighter as I grow as a Christian. But isn't it a comfort to know that even though God sees and knows your every nasty little secret, He still loves you, especially when you have acknowledged those things and asked for His help to overcome them? And to those of you who say, "Oh, I don't think I am troubled in my mind like that!" I would say maybe you could think about saying sorry for thinking you are holier than anyone else!

Because of our sinfulness, we must ask God to search our hearts and unearth sins that we do not know are there.

We must look into God's word and judge our holiness by its words, not our own.

Therefore, the only way to really know your sin is to study God's word and let the light of His truth expose it. By asking God to search your heart, you are asking Him to identify sin in you so you can confess it and resist it.
